

Lewis Ordered To Trial For Contempt; Can Enjoin Walkout

Washington, Nov. 29 (P)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough ordered John L. Lewis to trial for contempt today and upheld the court's right to enjoin a walkout in the soft coal mines despite federal anti-injunction laws.

Overruling Lewis' motion for dismissal of the contempt action brought by the government, Goldsborough declared:

"The Norris-La Guardia act did not and does not apply, and the court has the same rights as it had prior to passage of the Norris-La Guardia act."

Goldsborough said his court had the right to enjoin "a labor union which was about to do something against the good of the public and the union itself."

Uphold Lewis' Action

Lewis and his United Mine Workers contended that the Norris-La Guardia act, curbing the use of restraining orders and injunctions in labor disputes, nullified Goldsborough's restraining order of November 18 and was grounds for dismissal of the whole contempt of court action, saying Lewis had the right to ignore it.

Government attorneys on the other hand contended the law did not apply where the government itself was acting as operator of the 3,300 soft coal mines seized during another crippling strike last spring.

Goldsborough's ruling cut short a day and a half of argument by attorneys for Lewis that the court lacked authority to restrain the UMW from terminating its government contract. This notice by Lewis was followed by a walkout of 400,000 miners.

Says Lewis Admitted Guilt

"The court repeats," Goldsborough said, "that this proceeding was for the sole purpose of maintaining the status quo in this dispute."

Before handing down his decision, the judge had remarked that Lewis in effect had "pleaded guilty to contempt by refusing to obey the court's order to keep the coal contract in force."

This was promptly challenged by one of Lewis' lawyers, T. C. Townsend, who said:

Overrules Motion

"He hasn't entered any plea of guilty, your honor."

After some argument over legal technicalities, the judge ruled:

"The motion to discharge and vacate the motion is overruled."

After a five minute recess court adjourned until 2:30 p. m.

Chief government counsel John F. Sonnett announced that the government was ready to present its first witness against Lewis — Navy Captain N. H. Collisson, federal coal mines administrator.

Today's session opened with a renewed defense attempt to win dismissal of the contempt action against Lewis, who as before, sat with jaw upthrust, rarely speaking to his 10-man legal battery.

Tests Strike Action

Through Attorney Edmund Burke, Lewis claimed the government's case actually is a criminal action instead of a civil proceeding, as designated, and therefore should be thrown out.

On this argument, too, the judge interrupted to say:

"The restraining order was not issued for the purpose of punishing a contempt of the Smith-Connally act (which forbids strikes against the government), but for the purpose of letting the court decide whether the coal contract with the government could be terminated."

"Then it is not a punitive proceeding, sir?" Burke inquired.

"It is exactly what I said it was," Goldsborough declared. He also told Burke:

"If you know the exact difference between a civil and a criminal contempt, you are the only person in the United States who does."

Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett, chief government counsel, then announced:

"We are prepared to meet the requirements for both a civil and criminal contempt action."

Owned by Leonard H. Himes, Melvern R. 1, and driven by Edward Fagley, Elysburg, the truck was proceeding toward Chambersburg for a load of milk when flames shot out from under the dashboard when ignition wires apparently crossed. The operator suffered burns of the hand when he attempted to beat out the flames, and was treated by a local doctor. The fire company extinguished the blaze which was confined to the dashboard and cab. Total damage was about $25.

CAROL SINGING ASSURED HERE FOR HOLIDAYS

Gettysburg seems assured of a Christmas program of carol singing on the square during the nights immediately preceding the holiday and a Christmas party December 24 at which gifts of candy, oranges and apples will be presented to the youngsters.

Representatives of the Gettysburg Fire company, Moose, Elks, Eagles, American Legion, and Rotary meeting Wednesday night at the Eagles home voted to proceed with the program and to invite other organizations to take part in the planning and conduct of the affair.

Donald C. Stallsmith was named chairman of a committee to purchase candy for the Kiddy Party, and was also named chairman of a "Santa Claus" committee with instructions to secure the ancient saint and some assistants to give out the gifts on Christmas eve.

Schedule Carol Singing

W. Preston Hull was named secretary-treasurer. Merle Baumgardner was appointed to secure apples and Paul Miller, chairman of the committee, was directed to purchase oranges.

The Senior Extension club will sing carols on December 19, and the Girl Scouts will sing on the evening of December 23. The committee will contract other organizations to secure carol singing each evening from December 15 until December 24.

A program including Christmas music by the Blue and Gray band was scheduled for the community Christmas party December 24 in the fire engine house to start at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Theatre Show

Sydney J. Poppay, manager of the Majestic theater, announced that the Majestic theater will be given free on the morning of December 24 for the presentation of a motion picture show for the entertainment of the county's youngsters as part of the Christmas celebration.

The committee also planned to send candy, oranges and apples to Paradise protectory, the Hoffman school, county home and jail to be distributed on Christmas at those institutions.

Groups of individuals who would like to sing carols on the square during the pre-Christmas period were asked to call the Chamber of Commerce office or notify some member of the committee.

SALARY RAISES FOR TEACHERS AT BIGLERVILLE

All teachers in the Biglerville school system were granted raises at a regular meeting of the board of education Wednesday evening. Teachers who have been receiving less than $1,800 a year will be given increases which will bring their salaries to that level. Those who have been receiving that amount or more were granted $100 increases. In addition to these increases, teachers will receive $50 for each four years in the Biglerville system and $50 for each eight years rendered in any school system. These increases will come to the teachers this year as bonuses — one third, December 1, one third March 1, and one third June 15.

The district will receive additional state reimbursement after July 1, which will make the increases possible with little or no effect on the present borough tax rate of 30 mills. Prof. L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the school, announced today.

The increases amount to from $100 to $360 per year. The new salaries become contractual with the district beginning September 1947.

Also included in the business for the evening was the election of Miss Margaret E. Wise, of York, as instructor in English and library science, effective September 1947. A graduate of West York high school, Miss Wise will be graduated from Millersville State Teachers' college in the spring.

Blame Student in 4-Car Crash

Robert W. Parker, Lebanon, a student at Gettysburg college, is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of reckless driving, following an accident on York street at 1:45 a. m. today which involved Parker's and three other automobiles.

Parker was driving west on York street, and said he fell asleep at the wheel, striking the automobiles of Nelson O. Sixes, 341 York street, Joseph Hilley and Sherman Roe, neighbors, whose cars were parked in front of their homes.

Damage to the four automobiles was estimated at more than $2,000. Parker's car was damaged the worst, the estimate being between $1,100 and $1,200. Damage to the Roe car was placed at $700; to the Sixes car at between $350 and $400 and to the Hilley car $100.

MAY ORGANIZE BOROUGH IN ADAMS COUNTY

Formation of an association of boroughs in Adams county was being sought today as a result of the recent civic government course conducted here for the county's borough officials.

The boroughs are asked to consider the establishment of such an organization in a letter sent out to each borough by Roger J. Keefer, secretary of the Littlestown council, for a committee named at the recent civic government school sessions.

"The question of the formation of an association of boroughs for Adams county has been discussed during the course conducted for borough officials at the Court House in Gettysburg," Keefer's letter to the borough secretaries pointed out.

Suggest Quarterly Meetings

"The thought back of such an idea was that as an organization we could secure the services of the Municipal Affairs bureau in helping the boroughs plan parks, playgrounds, housing developments, traffic hazard control, etc."

"The opinion of the committee is to hold quarterly meetings at which time the services of an expert in such fields as borough planning, zoning or other problems vital to borough development could be discussed. Also a meeting could be devoted to instruction in councilmanic duties. This we feel, would be helpful to new men just entering council."

"Please let us know the action of your council on a set-up of this type by communication with Roger Keefer, Littlestown."

The attempt to form such an organization is the second such try on the part of interested borough officials. Shortly before the war an association of boroughs was formed, but the war emergency prevented its development.

COUNTY VET OF NAVY DUTY GETS UNIT CITATION

DONALD B. SHETTER

Donald Bruce Shetter, Biglerville, former member of the crew of the U. S. S. Evans (DD-532) which took part in the naval battle off Okinawa, has been notified that the presidential unit citation has been awarded the ship and as a result all members of its crew during the period mentioned in the citation are authorized to wear the presidential unit citation ribbon with star. The ribbon was sent to Shetter with a copy of the citation.

The citation states:

"The president of the United States takes pleasure in presenting the Presidential Unit Citation to United States Ship Evans for service as set forth in the following citation:

Attacked by 100 Planes

"For extraordinary heroism in action as support destroyer on radar picket station number 15 during an attack by approximately 100 enemy Japanese planes, forty miles northwest of the Okinawa Transport area, May 11, 1945.

"Fighting valiantly against waves of hostile suicide planes plunging toward her from all directions, the U. S. S. Evans sent up relentless barrages of antiaircraft fire during one of the most furious air-sea battles of the war.

"Repeatedly finding her targets, she destroyed fourteen enemy planes, assisted in downing three others and, by her vigilance and superb battle readiness, avoided damage to herself until subjected to a coordinated attack by five Japanese planes. Shooting one down clear of the ship, she was crashed by the other four with devastating effect.

In Business With Father

"With all engineering spaces flooded and with a fire raging amidship, the gallant officers and men of the Evans fought desperately against almost insurmountable odds and, by their indomitable determination, fortitude and skill, brought the damage under control, enabling their ship to be towed to port and saved. Her brilliant performance in this action reflects the highest credit upon the Evans and the United States Naval Service.

"For the President, James Forrestal, Secretary of Navy."

Shetter is associated with his father, Ralph Shetter, in the management of a service station at Biglerville since his return from service.

500 PERSONS ATTEND DANCE

More than 500 persons—mostly of high school and college age— jammed the Hotel Gettysburg annex Thursday night for the dance given by the Halloween committee as a "bonus" with money left over from the Halloween festivities.

As a result of the success of the dance the committee planned to meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce office to expand and to determine whether it will be possible to hold a number of similar affairs during the coming year.

Paul Miller, chairman, Harry Bender, who had charge of arrangements for the dance, Henry W. Garvin, treasurer, and Elmer L. Warren, who comprised the committee said that they had been approached by a number of townspeople urging that similar affairs be held in the future.

According to discussion among committee members Thursday, if it seems possible to raise enough money for the dances, various women's organizations will be asked to join the committee in order that some type of refreshments might be served at dances and a group of high school students will be invited to join the committee to give their advice on what type of programs will be most appealing to the youth.

Mount Saint Mary's College Glee Club Being Reorganized; Has 56 Members

T. SCHAEFER IS DIRECTOR FOR CHORAL GROUP

Not long after the present semester began at Mount Saint Mary's college, a Choral Group consisting of 56 members made plans for an ambitious program of musical activities during the coming year.

Joseph Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, South Stratton street, Gettysburg, is a member.

Like many other organizations at the Mount, the Glee club is being reorganized after a lull created by the war. Membership consists of all those who have successfully undergone vocal tests conducted by Director Thomas Schaefer. Second semester students, who last spring devoted themselves exclusively to church music, form a nucleus for the society. Incidentally, those men who are interested in ecclesiastical hymns form a "club within a club" for the purpose of presenting religious selections in the college chapel as the occasion arises.

The aim of the Glee club is to promote interest in group singing, good fellowship, and to present choral music publicly. Fraternism, which is attained by close harmony of all-male voices, is the keynote.

GANGWAY, BOYS! HERE COMES ANOTHER NEW RURAL TELEPHONE LINE!

Yes, we're really making headway on our program for extending rural telephone service.

And as rapidly as equipment becomes available, improvements will be made to service in rural areas reached by existing lines. These will include a reduction in the number of parties on party lines, more modern instruments to replace crank-type telephones, and improved ringing systems on which the customer will hear the ring of not more than half the parties on his line.

The sole purpose of this program is to provide better telephone service, at the lowest possible cost, to more rural families in the areas we serve.

CPA Turns Down 'Dimout' Appeal

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 29 (AP)—An appeal by the Pennsylvania Power and Light company for exemption under the federal government's "brownout" order has been rejected by the Civilian Production Administration in Washington, P. P. and

L. President Charles E. Oakes announced Wednesday.

Oakes said the appeal was originally made on the basis that the company, which serves approximately 500,000 subscribers in central and eastern Pennsylvania, uses only anthracite to produce power and thus is not affected by the bituminous walkout.

P. P. and L. is the world's largest user of anthracite, Oakes added.

Despite rejection of the firm's appeal, Oakes declared that two company executives are now in Washington to renew the dimout exemption request and also to give CPA additional data, which it requested in support of the appeal.

U. S. milk production in 1946 was 16 per cent above the average of the five years immediately preceding World War II.

Bullet Gridders Close Season By Whipping Lebanon Valley Here Thanksgiving Day 26-6

After spotting Lebanon Valley a touchdown in the first few minutes of play, the Gettysburg college Bullets came back strong to score a touchdown in each period to defeat the Dutchmen 26-6 here before a Thanksgiving Day throng of about 3,000.

Joe Cervino tabbed a pair of touchdowns and booted two extra points while Charley Rambo and Ross Sachs tallied the other Bullet six-pointers.

The victory was the first time this season a win was gained by the Bullets on their home soil. It also gave the Bream-men a record of four wins against five setbacks.

Valley Scores Early
In the first few minutes of action it appeared the locals might be the victims of over confidence, Lebanon Valley scoring in five plays. Eckenroth took the opening kickoff on his own 5-yard line and raced straight up midfield to the Bullets' 47. Eckenroth connected on a pass to Gemberling for a first down on the 25. DiJohnson, a fleet and dangerous runner the whole game, was stopped on a line plunge but on the next play swept around left end for 20 yards to put the ball on the 5. Eckenroth picked up two and one-half yards on a line plunge and on the next play DiJohnson went around left end to tally. Yeake's placement for the point was wide.

Coach Bream's lads came right back and marched 75 yards to knot the score. A bit of nice running on the part of Kreider and Cervino coupled with a 12-yard pass, Kreider to Rambo, produced five straight first downs to the one-foot mark from where Cervino cracked through the line. Lebanon Valley's line broke through to block Cervino's placement.

Bullets Take Lead
Midway in the second period Rambo intercepted a pass and reached the Dutchmen's 49-yard line. After Kreider picked up two yards on a plunge Cervino whipped a 37-yard aerial to Rambo on the 10 from where he raced over. Cervino added the point on a placement.

Late in the period the Bream-men marched from their own 20 to gain a first down on Lebanon Valley's 8 but the fighting Dutchmen braced and took the ball on the 13 just before the half ended.

Eckenroth and Gamber reeled off two straight first downs for the visitors after they had received the second half kickoff and reached the Gettysburg 22 where Wileman halted the drive by recovering Gemberling's fumble after the latter had caught a short pass.

Penalty Prevents Score
The longest run of the afternoon, a 69-yard "touchdown" dash by Cervino early in the quarter, was nullified when a Bullet-player was detected clipping, an old story with the locals this season.

In the fading minutes of the period Gettysburg gained possession of the ball on the visitors' 39 through a punt and drove for a touchdown. Kreider whipped a pass to Cauffman for a first down on the 7. Cervino cracked through center for 6 yards.

Kreider was stopped for no gain but on the next play Cervino went around right end to score and then added the point on a placement boot.

Early in the final period Rambo intercepted Hess' pass and got to the Lebanon Valley 27. Wileman tossed a pass to Cauffman on the 6. Two stabs by Cervino and another by Sachs picked up five yards and on the last play Wileman pitched an aerial to Sachs in the end zone for the score. Cervino's extra point boot was wide.

Dutchmen Threaten
Taking advantage of a flock of Gettysburg substitutions Lebanon Valley reeled off four straight first downs following the kickoff to reach the Gettysburg 6 but muffed a possible score when Schlegel pounced on a fumble on the 3. The Bullets drove for three straight first downs as the game ended.

The Bullets chalked up 16 first downs to their opponents 14. Gettysburg made good on eight of 18 passes while Lebanon Valley connected on four of eight with two being intercepted.

Dick Constable, Bullet halfback, was forced out of action a few minutes after entering the game in the second period when he re-injured his left knee.

SERVICE TEAMS READY FOR BIG TILT SATURDAY

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 (AP)—"We're here and we're ready," said Navy Coach Tom Hamilton as the Middies polished up their grid plays today in last-minute preparation for tomorrow's Army-Navy grid classic at Municipal stadium.

Hamilton and his squad of 41 players arrived last night aboard three special railroad cars which brought them here from Baltimore for the 47th service classic.

"We're not up to full strength but we're set to play a full ball game," the Navy mentor said, inferring that Army—a step away from its third unbeaten season—may have a busy day with the Middies.

Army In Fine Trim
Meanwhile as Army's squad prepared to leave West Point for the climactic game, Coach Earl Blaik reported his entire squad was in excellent physical trim and that most of the players who have been on the injured list will be back in action against the Middies.

The outlook was not quite as optimistic on the part of Navy's coach as Hamilton announced that Joe Bartos, regular right halfback, who has been on the injured list, will definitely be out of the game. In addition, Hamilton said it is very doubtful either Bill Hawkins or Bob Hawkins or Bob Van Summer, Navy's other backs, will see action. They are recovering from leg injuries suffered in earlier games.

At any rate, Hamilton isn't taking any chances on using any of his players whose injuries might slow them up.

"We'll need all the speed we have to stop Davis and Blanchard and you can't do that with sore-legged backs. Incidentally I have a lot of respect for Arnold Tucker too."

The Middies rested up overnight at Pine Valley, (N. J.), Country club in preparation for this afternoon's workout on the Municipal stadium gridiron before the arrival of the Black Knights of the Hudson. The Cadets are scheduled to follow the Middies in a light workout on the stadium's gridiron. Then the Cadets will return to the Manufacturer's Golf and Country club where they will remain until shortly before the kickoff at 1:30 p. m. (EST). The weatherman predicted fair and colder weather for the estimated fans expected to turn out for the colorful service game which has been sold out for months. However, scalpers were offering the almost impossible to procure Army-Navy tickets for $90 a pair—nearly nine times their face value—as police, railroads and transit firms prepared schedules to handle possibly the nation's largest sports crowd of the year.

Chapter 5

Madelyn's face was pale and the delight had gone out of her eyes as she watched David's car rolling away, for she was certain that something beautiful was rolling out of her life. And far worse than that, she had lost David as an ally.

Corrine was having a wonderful time getting things together for the Friday night party. She had saved all details for one big spree in the shops.

Corrine had not noticed the driving heat of the afternoon until she got into her blue roadster to go home. The heat of the motor was like a fire under her feet before she was halfway home, and she took off her shoes and prodded the accelerator with the big toe of her right, stockinged foot.

She was in no mood for argument, but she knew she would have one if her mother caught her with her shoes in one hand and her hat in the other.

Amity Pratt was a small prim woman in her early forties. Her eyes were clear and round and blue, deep-set as Corrine's. Her face was as round as a baby's and as smooth, except for her chin which was sharply pointed.

Amity could reprove with a look from her cold blue eyes, but with Corrine, there were always words. "It's common, Corrine, to come traipsing in in your stocking feet."

"It's common to traipse anywhere, remember?" Corrine returned. "You do it when you're dead tired and half suffocated."

Amity Pratt sighed. "You're your father's daughter. I've just about given up hope." She sighed again, deeper, and her eyes misted over. "Hope for what?" Corrine asked wearily.

"Of making you a lady."

"Ah, that," Corrine laughed. "I've dreamed of the time when you'd go abroad with Ross and be introduced to royalty." Amity's sigh was deeper and yet the mist in her eyes formed into two tears at the outer corners.

Corrine lolled back in the chair and tossed her shoes aside. She closed her eyes for a minute, then suddenly she roused to ask, "Mother, who started this business of me being engaged to Ross? He never has even proposed to me."

"I don't know that anybody started it. Ross has always been your escort, even before you went to college. It has just been taken for granted. He's the only eligible young man in Headleyville fit for you."

"Fit?" Corrine repeated the word to herself. It was a funny word. One meaning of it was what she was about to have. "I don't even like Ross," she said finally. "He's soft and pompous. He puckers up with importance."

Her mother's chin jutted and the point of it was as sharp as her voice. "What have you been up to, Corrine? Have you fallen in love with somebody else?"

"Yes, I have," she answered non-estly.

There was a brief silence during which Amity Pratt sniffed a couple of times and wiped her eyes, but Corrine was not looking. "You'd better go take a cold shower, dear. The heat is oppressive."

"Yep, I 'spect I'd better," Corrine sprang from the chair and picked up her shoes.

It was a relief to reach her own room. She undressed and took a cooling shower, lay down on the luxurious bed with only a sheer nightgown between her body and the cool breeze puffing in through the windows which were as wide as doors and reached almost to the high ceiling.

Twilight was softening the flower garden with its mellow gold and dust-rose lights when Corrine awoke from a short, dreamless nap.

She dressed hurriedly in a white silk suit consisting of skirt, blouse with a bright red collar, and a short white jacket. She stepped back from the big round mirror to get the full effect, then dashed downstairs.

Her mother was nowhere in sight, but she found Ross and her father

on the stone porch which led out, by the way of polished stone steps, to the terrace and the pool.

Ross came to his feet the moment she spoke. "Hello, Corrine." "Please don't let me interrupt," Corrine begged. She sat on the arm of her father's chair, one arm encircling his neck.

Mr. Pratt always spoke openly before Corrine in spite of his wife's protests, so he said, "Ross and I were discussing his conference with Crockett. Crockett refuses to sell the land. We've offered five times what it's worth."

"Maybe that's not enough for what it's worth to him," Corrine suggested.

"It's worth nothing to him! He can't even pay his taxes."

Corrine snuggled against him and said, "You know, I believe David Graham could influence him. Why don't you talk with him and see if he can't persuade Old Man Crockett to sell?"

"H-m-m, that young shirttail?" her father grumbled.

"That might be a good idea," Ross put in.

"I don't do business that way," Mr. Pratt snapped.

"It's just a suggestion," Corrine said sweetly and snuggled closer to him.

She was startled when her father said suddenly, "I think a tactful thing would be to invite young Graham to the party Friday night."

"Why, yes," she faltered. Then she told them of the invitation Nella had sent him, and could not restrain a chuckle at her father's, "Well, I'll be a confounded frog in a fish-pond!"

"He flatly refused to come," she went on. "He might reconsider if you sent an invitation and signed your name to it." She considered for a moment, then added, "But I doubt if any urging would get him here."

Mr. Pratt snorted and said, "I wouldn't think of doing such a thing."

"You'd better," Ross interposed.

HELD IN SLAYING OF ACCUSED BOY

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 (P)—Thomas Marino, 40-year-old unemployed shipworker accused of luring a 17-year-old youth to his house and then killing him in the belief the youth had been intimate with Marino's 14-year-old daughter, today was held without bail on a homicide charge.

"He's our only means of reaching Crockett. Madelyn hasn't any influence with him."

Corrine hurried into the library and came back with an invitation. "You're going to regret this," his wife said as she scribbled his name across one corner of the square.

Explosion of the balloons sent Raymond Gibbons, 23, his sister, Verna, 20, both of Clementon, N. J., and Mrs. Emma Long, 36, of Camden, N. J., to Hahnemann hospital with facial burns.

Police, who were seeking the vendor of the balloons, said the people were burned while watching a parade yesterday. Use of a combustible gas in balloons is illegal, police explained.

Simon said Marino asked Landi to his house to "see some Christmas toys and trains." Landi was

AUTHOR CLAIMS YANKS KNEW OF JAP INTENTIONS

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
"Secret Missions" a book by Capt. Ellis M. Zacharias of the U. S. Naval Intelligence, which makes its appearance today is a most interesting contribution to postwar understanding of how things go in this world, and a warning of the necessity for improved peacetime military intelligence.

He goes back long before the war, for incidents of Japanese, German, and Russian espionage in America, and describes years of work which he contends led up to an accurate analysis of Japanese intentions in 1941 when, had it not been more or less ignored, might have prevented Pearl Harbor.

But, although Zacharias never mentions the subject himself, the book also contains some lessons on a very lively current problem.

Favor Atomic Inspections
The United States has proposed to yield the secrets of atomic power to international control whenever an effective inspection system has been set up to prevent its military use.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's statement yesterday accepting the principle of international inspection machinery, along with other statements in this field, makes it certain it will be one of the prime factors in discussions.

Zacharias' story serves to emphasize the necessity for extreme care before the safety of the United States is left to international inspection.

He apparently makes the point unambiguously, and gives it home, oddly enough, while quoting Franz von Rintelen, famous pre-Nazi German secret agent.

Von Rintelen says Zacharias, once pointed out that the United States in those days made virtually no effort to hide its military developments, and added, and this is the point of such significance to planners of international inspection systems.

Problem for Agents
"The United States is too vast x x x with developments going on simultaneously at distances of thousands of miles, interrelated as they are and requiring simultaneous observation x x x. It would require hundreds of highly qualified agents x x x and no intelligence service can afford to concentrate such a huge army x x x in any one country."

Von Rintelen also pointed out that peacetime military activity bears little relation to the sudden developments and expansions of wartime, and concluded that ultimate failure is always the lot of espionage in the United States.

This country is not unique, in these respects, among the areas which will be subject to any international inspection plans.

Here And There
Rocksand then, who has since grown in stature to almost six feet and tips the scales at 215 pounds.

"There must be a free exchange of information between newspapers of the world," declares Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press.

Other recommendations made by Mr. Cooper in an article appearing in the new edition of "Liberty magazine include:

1. News at its source must be freely available to all newspapers everywhere.

2. News of any country must be granted the same sort of protection and immunity which is accorded to the diplomatic agents of the world.

3. There must be no preferential transmission facilities.

4. There must be an accurate and fairly expanded world communications system and a low, uniform, non-discriminatory rate for transmission.

"World-wide freedom of the press," Mr. Cooper writes, "is an American peace aim which must not be neglected. What was it if not tainted news and angles propaganda that fostered and nourished the mass hatred which drove the German people into war with such fanatical and frenzied determination?"

"Those who seek to restrict the freedom of the press acknowledge in so doing the powerful influence of the printed word in a dictatorship, barriers to freedom and truth are set up through control of the press. The reason for this control is not only to preserve government prestige but also because it is feared that the truth might open the eyes of the people and ultimately set them free."

CREWMAN FROM TANKER EXPIRES

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 (P)—The Coast Guard cutter Mohawk radioed that George A. Legoutte, a crew member injured in an explosion that disabled the 10,000-ton tanker S. S. Chantilly off the Virginia coast, died early today while being rushed to Ocean City, Md., for treatment.

Coast Guard headquarters here said reports of the damage to the tanker were meager but the Mohawk reported the cutter Cherokee from Norfolk, Va., had taken the tanker in tow and presumably was headed for Norfolk.

The Chantilly set an SOS last night saying "explosion in the engine room. Turbine overrun. Ship disabled. Oiler badly hurt, leg mangled and bleeding profusely." The tanker gave its position as approximately 160 miles off Chincoteague Island, Virginia.

A rescue boat, with a doctor aboard, was dispatched from Ocean City along with the cutters Mohawk and Cherokee. A Coast Guard spokesman said the Mohawk reached the disabled tanker about 2:30 a. m. (EST) and took off Legoutte who had suffered a fractured left leg and had been bleeding badly for 10 hours.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the Chantilly was owned by the War Shipping Administration and operated out of Philadelphia by Tankers company.

MOVE AFOOT FOR FALL PRIMARY

Harrisburg, Nov. 29 (P)—The Pennsylvania Legislature may be asked at its 1947 session, opening in January, to return the primary for local elections in odd-numbered years to its traditional fall date.

During peacetime, primaries in even-numbered years for general elections were held in the spring and those for municipal elections and those for the fall primary date the following year were set for fall.

A spring primary date in even-numbered years is necessary to elect delegates to national conventions and to permit state-wide campaigns. It was argued in fixing the fall primary date in odd-numbered years, that long campaigns are unnecessary for candidates for local office.

However, the assembly during World War II fixed the primary date for both general and municipal elections in the spring to facilitate participation by Pennsylvanians in the armed services in both primaries and elections.

Under that change, the 1947 primary is set for June 17 but election bureau officials expect that efforts will be made at the forthcoming session of the Legislature to return the primary date to the fall, probably September, since most of the Pennsylvanians in the armed services have returned to civilian life.

Should a decision be made for a fall primary, it is expected the bill making the change will be passed early in the session so that the election calendar for the year may be re-arranged.

Bears' Streak Is Stretched To Five

(By The Associated Press)
Boasting a five game winning streak, the high flying Hershey Bears are showing signs of taking a commanding lead in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League.

The Bears, who increased their first place margin over the New Haven Ramblers to four points by routing the Providence Reds, 10-2 last night while the Ramblers battled the Indianapolis Capitals to a 2-2 tie, have virtually paced their division or been deadlocked for the top rung since the season started.

After spouting the Reds a goal early in the first period, the Bears putred, seven goals into the Providence net before the session ended with Jack McGill scoring three of them to sew up the game.

In the only other game, the Springfield Indians and the St. Louis Flyers fought to a 2-2 deadlock. The Flyers took a 2-1 lead in the third period but Harry Frost then counted for the Indians to knot the score for keeps.

LEWIS BATTLE CENTERS ABOUT INJUNCTION ACT

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Nov. 29 (P)—Today John L. Lewis' struggle with government centers on the Norris-LaGuardia Act.

This act, passed by Congress in 1932, still stands, unchanged. It has helped unions tremendously.

In almost all cases—the exceptions are too detailed to go into here—it forbids a federal judge to interfere in a labor dispute.

Until this act was passed, employers crippled many unions by getting federal judges to forbid their striking.

Were Two Ways
There were two ways in which judges used to do this:

1. By issuing a restraining order. This was just a temporary order—say for 10 days—to a union—not to strike.

2. Then by issuing an injunction. This was a permanent order to a union not to strike.

The Norris-LaGuardia Act practically put an end to this practice in labor disputes.

Now comes the Lewis case. He had a contract with the government to mine coal. He wanted to change it. The government said "no"—that the contract specifically covers the period of federal operation of the mines.

Restraining Order
Lewis said he was tearing up the contract, anyway.

Government lawyers went to a federal judge, T. Alan Goldsborough, and told him:

1. Lewis had no right to tear up his contract.

2. Tearing it up meant a mine's walkout.

3. A walkout meant a paralyzing national coal shortage.

The judge decided on two things: first, a restraining order, and then, maybe, an injunction.

Why did Lewis ignore the restraining order?

His lawyers point to the Norris-LaGuardia Act and say that, under the act, the judge had no right to issue even a restraining order to Lewis since Lewis was having a labor dispute.

Government Arguments
They were saying here that, since they thought the judge had no right to issue any order at all, there was no reason for Lewis to obey it.

But the government lawyers argue:

1. In this case it was the government, not a private employer, which had a contract with a union. The Norris-LaGuardia Act covers only union contracts with private employers.

2. Therefore, the judge had a right to issue the order since the Norris-LaGuardia Act nowhere forbids court interference in a labor dispute involving the government.

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 29 (P)—Mrs. Ruth Kikto, 42, of Clearfield, and Warren Gilbert, 21, Penn State student and son of the president of Shippensburg State Teachers' college, were in the Carlisle hospital today with injuries received in an automobile accident.

State police reported Mrs. Kikto's car ran off the road and snapped off a pole at its base five miles north of here Wednesday afternoon.

Bill De Lancey Dies In Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 29 (P)—Bill De Lancey, one of the most promising young baseball catchers ever to go up the major leagues only to have his career cut short by failing health, died last night at his home here after an extended illness.

Death came for the former St. Louis Cardinal backstop on his 25th birthday—Thanksgiving Day. He had considered himself a Phenician for the past 10 years, although he had essayed several recoveries in the intervening period and made temporary returns to baseball in other states.

De Lancey skyrocketed to baseball stardom in 1934 when, as a 22-year-old rookie, he caught all seven games in the 1934 World Series when the Cardinals topped the Detroit Tigers, four games to three, and Bill chipped in with a home run to help the Red Birds' cause.

A bright future seemed in store for the kid who had just compiled a regular season batting mark of .316, an average that included 13 circuit clouts. But Bill's health wasn't the best and he was ordered by his physicians to retire from baseball and move to the sunny clime of Arizona. He had been seriously ill since March.

The 65-year-old Trimmer said he then was thrown into a chair, tied and gagged and the Thanksgiving Day intruder carried off 10 fur coats valued at $1,400. The sheriff's car had been stolen from a courthouse parking lot.

Army Journal Is Urging Defenses

Washington, Nov. 29 (P)—The Coast Artillery Journal declared today the United States should begin planning without delay its defense against possible attack by atom bombs, air bombardment or biological warfare.

The magazine, published by the Coast Artillery Association, said "defense against rockets, although demanding much thought and planning, is not yet of general concern."

SHOWDOWN ON USSR DEMANDS FOR YUGOSLAVS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
New York, Nov. 29 (P)—Cheered by the possibility of completing their peacemaking here in another week, the Big Four Foreign Ministers reached a showdown today on Russia's demand that Yugoslavia be given a greater share than Greece in war reparations to be paid by Italy and Bulgaria.

The council was moving along at top speed. Some diplomats speculated it might wind up the final Satellite peace treaty drafts and agree on a German peace study by a week hence.

A final compromise on the issue between Russia and the western powers over free navigation on the Danube River seemed to be almost in hand.

Gets Priority
A committee of deputies was assigned to summarize the relatively few open questions remaining in the Italian peace treaty. Among these unsettled points the dispute over reparations ranked first. It was given priority for today's Big Four session. The issue is difficult because it involves the old contest between Russia and Britain for position in southeastern Europe.

Italy, according to recommendations of the Paris peace conference is supposed to pay a total of $325,000,000 in reparations—$25,000,000 to Ethiopia and $100,000,000 each to Russia, Yugoslavia and Greece.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, champion of Yugoslavia's cause, has repeatedly attacked the idea that Greece, backed by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, should receive a payment equal to that of Yugoslavia. His contention is that Yugoslavia deserves to receive more because of her war record and experiences.

De Lancey skyrocketed to baseball stardom in 1934 when, as a 22-year-old rookie, he caught all seven games in the 1934 World Series when the Cardinals topped the Detroit Tigers, four games to three, and Bill chipped in with a home run to help the Red Birds' cause.

A bright future seemed in store for the kid who had just compiled a regular season batting mark of .316, an average that included 13 circuit clouts. But Bill's health wasn't the best and he was ordered by his physicians to retire from baseball and move to the sunny clime of Arizona. He had been seriously ill since March.

Posee As Sheriff, Steals 10 Fur Coats

York, Pa., Nov. 29 (P)—Driving up to the Shull Dry Cleaning establishment in the official car of Sheriff Earl Wolf, a man persuaded Watchman Harry Trummer to open the firm's vault for "inspection."

The 65-year-old Trimmer said he then was thrown into a chair, tied and gagged and the Thanksgiving Day intruder carried off 10 fur coats valued at $1,400. The sheriff's car had been stolen from a courthouse parking lot.

Army Journal Is Urging Defenses

Washington, Nov. 29 (P)—The Coast Artillery Journal declared today the United States should begin planning without delay its defense against possible attack by atom bombs, air bombardment or biological warfare.

The magazine, published by the Coast Artillery Association, said "defense against rockets, although demanding much thought and planning, is not yet of general concern."

DILEMMA
Salt Lake City, (P) — Mr. and Mrs. Hilton L. Carside have this problem to decide before Saturday:

Should they have one birthday cake with enough candles to cover everybody or should they have three separate cakes?

Three of their four children have birthday anniversaries the same day. Billy Carside was born November 30, 1941. Bobby Carside arrived the following year on the same date and Bonita joined the family last year on November 30. Brent Carside was different. He arrived in 1944—on Mother's Day.

A coating or two of clear shellac preserves pictures they may then be framed without glass.

CLAIM U.S. ABLE TO BREAK TITO GOVERNMENT

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The general interpretation of the latest U. S. note to Poland, that Warsaw can expect no further credits if it persists in what Washington considers "disturbing" election preparations, has heightened speculation in United Nations circles as to whether the U. S. intends to make a stab at pulling Yugoslavia and Poland out of the Russian sphere.

Such speculation has been current since the United States came out against continuation of international relief distribution and inferred, instead, that she intended to base allotment of her supplies, at least in part, on the reciprocal attitudes of needy nations.

Under UNRRA, relief distribution has been handled without regard for politics. The State Department hasn't, of course, decided to stand idly by in violation of American tradition while there is mass starvation anywhere. But short of that, the idea from now on is to help our friends first and not to help peoples in countries whose governments work against us.

How Help Works

The realities are that by helping to feed a people and finance their government you strengthen that government in whatever it wants to do, and, conversely, if you wish to change a government, hungry people and straitened finances can be a major weapon. Under an international policy of relief distribution strictly on the basis of need, the U. S. conceivably could find itself feeding a people whose government, thus relieved of one part of its burden, actually would use the surplus to prepare for war against us.

The United States announcements, plus these realities, have led to gossip at Lake Success that, whether she has definite designs or not, America is in a position to break the Tito government and force a change in Poland.

Actually, however, this would depend on what these countries could obtain elsewhere. And it is not to be forgotten that Russia, not contributing supplies to UNRRA and instead, being helped in the Ukraine and White Russia, sent shipments of grain to France just at a time when it would do the French Communists most good in an election. Any application of sanctions against Warsaw and Belgrade undoubtedly would arouse Russia to extreme efforts to offset the damage, a job for which she has had more than a year to prepare while we have been carrying the major burden of European rehabilitation.

Such sanctions also must involve a determination to follow through for some time to come.

TRUMAN URGED TO CENTER FIRE ON BIG ISSUES

By JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 29 (AP)—President Truman reportedly is being urged by some Capitol Hill friends to center his fire on a few major issues in recommendations to the new Republican-controlled Congress.

Several influential Democrats said privately they hope Mr. Truman produces middle-of-the-road proposals for legislation on labor, housing, taxes and expenditures, the military draft and possibly Army-Navy merger.

They would prefer that he not attempt to cover the broad field of suggestions he made to the last Congress.

With the Republicans now in control of the legislative machinery and likely to pursue their own objectives, many of the Democrats think it would be wise for the President to present his ideas only on the top issues.

Labor Control Top Issue

One of these is likely to be labor control legislation, on which the congressional approach probably will be affected vitally by whether the coal mines still are idle when the legislators meet January 3.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said he hopes White House recommendations will be forthcoming for "moderate" revisions in the labor laws, to provide the public with greater protection against production stoppages without sacrificing labor's rights.

"I am afraid that there will be some rather drastic measures offered in this Congress in that field," Lucas told a reporter. "I think the President owes it to himself to make clear his position, and that of the party, before the shooting starts."

MARTIN'S EXPENSES

Harrisburg, Nov. 29 (AP)—Gov. Edward Martin reported expenses of $4,500 to the state Election Board today in his successful campaign for election to the U. S. Senate. The governor's account showed he received $2,500 from the Republican National Senatorial committee, which he turned over to the Republican state committee, and that he made an additional contribution of $1,500 to the latter committee.

GREEK PREMIER TO BRING U.N. BORDER ISSUE

Athens, Nov. 29 (AP)—Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris is scheduled to fly to New York Sunday with the presumed aim of laying before the United Nations a complaint that Greece's northern border has been violated in continuing fighting between Leftist bands and Greek troops.

The Greek government has repeatedly asserted the bands have been supplied from within Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

The Greek information office in London said Monday that a formal complaint would be made to the U.N. Security Council.

On Sofia yesterday, Georgi Dimitroff, Bulgaria's new Communist premier, told the Grand National Assembly his government "categorically rejects the slanderous accusations . . . that bands from Bulgaria have penetrated Greek territory."

Guerrillas Surrounded
Dispatches to Athens newspapers, meanwhile, said Greek troops had surrounded 250 guerrillas in the Souphli district near the Turkish frontier and that the second and 14th Greek divisions had inflicted heavy casualties and taken several captives in a "major engagement" with a strong mountain band in the Larisa section.

Russians Redeploy Troops In Germany

Berlin, Nov. 29 (AP)—Official American and informed German sources here said today that Soviet troops are engaged in large-scale redeployment movements in the Russian occupation zone of Germany.

Maj. Gen. Frank A. Keating, acting American deputy military governor, said Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovskiy, Russian commander in chief in Germany, had informed American commanders the troop movements were of such a scale as to utilize most of the Soviet zone's transport facilities.

A German correspondent recently returned from Thuringia, said the Soviet troop movement there was "something terrific."

"However," he added, "the Russians haven't announced anything officially so nobody knows just what the new dispositions will be."

Goodwin of the Associated Press reported troops had retaken Mandelshaus and Mavros from a band which had held the towns 24 hours, killed 24 villagers and burned 40 buildings. He said the mayor of Mavros told Greek officers the band was composed of Serbs and Bulgars.

HOLIDAY TOLL 76 FOR NATION

(By The Associated Press)
Traffic accidents cost the lives of at least 63 persons—more than the toll estimated by the national safety council—as the nation observed the Thanksgiving holiday yesterday. Violent deaths from miscellaneous causes totaled 13.

The safety council, which today reported 3,120 traffic fatalities in October and a total of 27,520 for the first 10 months of 1946, had estimated 50 persons would die in motor mishaps on the holiday. It said, however, that normally 110 persons are killed in traffic on a November Thursday, including deaths occurring later from injuries suffered that day.

California, Illinois and Michigan

each reported five traffic deaths yesterday while four fatalities each were reported in Arizona, Florida, Georgia, New York and Ohio; three each in Indiana and Pennsylvania; two each in Colorado, Connecticut, Missouri and North Carolina, and one each in Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Washington.

The safety council said that the traffic toll for the first 10 months this year was 25 per cent higher than for the same period in 1945 and estimated that the fatalities for the entire year would approximate 34,000.

Our Sons

This history would not be complete without calling attention to our two sons who served in the Gospel Ministry. There may have been others in the earlier days of our history, but the first son that we have a record of is the now late Rev. Charles H. Slinghoff. Mr. Slinghoff was received under the care of Gettysburg Classis, May 28, 1886. He attended Ursinus in 1893. He was licensed June 9, 1893, by Gettysburg Classis and transferred to Lancaster Classis where he was ordained and installed the same month as pastor of our church at Marietta, Pa., which church he served from June, 1893, to December, 1894. His other charges were McConelstown, Pa., for seven years, Brownbacks, was buried at Richland, Pa.

Our second son is the Rev. Charles B. Robert. He was received under the care of Gettysburg Classis May 15, 1897. He graduated from Franklin and Marshall college in 1897 and the Lancaster Theological Seminary in 1900. After being licensed by Gettysburg Classis May 28, 1900, he was transferred to Somerset Classis where he was ordained and installed as pastor of the Stoyestown charge, which charge he served until 1907. His other charges were "The Fairview Charge" near Chicora, Pa., from 1907-11, "The St. Petersburg Charge" near Clarion, Pa., from 1911-27, and "The Carroll Charge" Westminster, Md., from 1927, until his retirement in October, 1944. After his retirement, he moved to Littlestown, Pa., where he continues to reside at the present time. He

CHAPTER VII.

Conclusion

This history was written in commemoration of our "100th Anniversary." As this history goes to press everybody is enthusiastically preparing for the celebration of this great landmark. October 27, October 30, and November 3 have been selected as the dates for this great event. A check up with earlier dates in our history reveals that November 3 will fall exactly on the 57th Anniversary of the dedication of our present building while October 27 is just one day more than 44 years after the re-opening of our church following the repairs of 1902. The dates for our celebration were selected because of their convenience, but it is significant that they should coincide with these anniversary dates. The services on Sunday, October 27 will be in charge of the Reformed Congregation. The pastor the Rev. John C. Brumbach will preach the sermon at the morning service. The guest preacher for the evening service will be the Rev. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of Trinity Reformed church at Gettysburg and also president of Mercersburg Synod. The services on Wednesday night, October 30, will be in charge of the Sunday school and the other organizations of the church while the services on the closing day, Sunday, November 3, will be in charge of the Lutheran congregation.

It is our fond hope and prayer that St. Luke's Union church will continue to serve until eternity as a beacon light for Christ and His Kingdom! May the past 100 years just be the beginning of a real service for the Master that shall know no end as long as this earth shall last!

"O God our Help in ages past,
Our Hope for years to come,
Our Shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal Home."

Large Congregation At Union Service

A large congregation participated in the union service of Thanksgiving Wednesday evening in Redeemer's Reformed church. Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, preached on the topic "God's Open Hand," basing his meditation on the 145th Psalm. Rev. Charles B. Robert, retired Reformed minister, led in the invocation and pronounced the benediction. Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed church, read the scripture and Rev. Robert H. Sheehan, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, offered the prayers of thanksgiving.

Robert Lagore, Spring Grove, sang a solo. The Junior and Senior choirs of Redeemer's church united to sing the Thanksgiving anthem. Miss Doris Lagore took the solo parts.

The name of the speaker for the annual preaching mission to be held January 12-17 was made public. He is the Rev. Dr. Allan S. Meek, pastor of Trinity church, York, and president-elect of the theological seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed church in Lancaster. Return From Trip To Western Coast

Mrs. Elsie Waltman, 50 Maple avenue, Littlestown, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krug, Hanover, R. 2, arrived home on Sunday from a trip to the Pacific coast and points of interest en route. They left by train on November 1, and took the southern route, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Noah Spahr, of Mt. Vernon, Washington (state), who had been visiting here since September 19. Mrs. Spahr, Mrs. Krug, and Mrs. Waltman are sisters. They stopped at Oklahoma City, Okla., and spent a day with William Herman, 83-year-old uncle of the three ladies. After going through Texas and California, they went up the coast to Washington. Here they visited Mr. and Mrs. Spahr's children and families. Mr. and Mrs. Krug, and Mrs. Waltman, returned by the northern route. They reported temperatures of 58 degrees below zero in Montana. They encountered snow from Washington to Illinois.

BATTLE AND SURVIVAL

During this glorious Autumn period I have watched with interest the changes being enacted. The falling of the colorful leaves from the beautiful foliage of the Spring and Summer time, the replacements being made, and the tone of the earth during this transformation.

I have noted the trees of this Northern clime being stripped and made bare. I have noted the formation of the branches, many broken by storm and stress, and many great tree trunks full of decay, yet with long life still apparent. And I have had pictured before me—in Nature—Battle and Survival. I have viewed the great formation of rocks, in huge hillsides, washed by rains, and cut away by years of breakage, but still presenting a story of millions of years that have gone before.

All life is a Battle for Survival. In the insect, animal, and human world, the same things go on and on, uninterrupted. A few of our bird friends stay about us during the cold and bleak Winter months, yet not without constant Battle that they may survive for the warmer months that follow. There is hidden courage in both animate and inanimate life.

It seems to me, in this contest of Battle—and taking it bravely "on the chin," as the saying goes, that there is the germ of Immortality here. Nothing is lost in Nature. There are constant replacements. A higher order is always on the way. Our little earth is but a speck in the great scheme of the over-all system of creation. It is even beyond our finite understanding.

Nothing is adequately appreciated that is not earned, through battling and striving, with all the will that we possess. Many a human being has reversed a doctor's prediction of death, and lived healthily and happily for many years afterward. Mere battling is a species of medicine! And a never-failing one, at that.

I enjoy most that athletic contest the result of which is not fully known until the last play has been made—the contest in which all are fighters—battling with all until the end. The late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was an example of the fighter who never expected defeat.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Rivers"

Just Folks

"TO KNOW ALL"

Once a sage grown old and wise Said: If men could only know All that in behavior lies, All behind the faults that show, Then, throughout the years they live, All with pity they'd forgive.

All the human eye can see Is the deed and injury wrought. None on earth so wise that he Knows the depths of mood and thought.

None can fully understand What to evil stirs the hand.

Could we know what lies behind All the promptings of the mind, All the promptings of the mind, Far more patient we should be, We'd forgive instead of scorn, Those who seem to frailty born.

News From Littlestown

ST. PAUL'S WILL RE-DEDICATE CHURCH SUNDAY

The weekly Sunday evening community vespers service will be held at 7:30 o'clock in Redeemer's Reformed church instead of in Centenary Methodist church as previously announced, because of repairs being made in the Methodist church. Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, will deliver the sermon.

A rededication service will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday morning at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, professor of systematic theology at the Lutheran seminary, Gettysburg, will deliver the message. The new front of the church is of colonial design, constructed of brick trimmed with molded stone. The rededication service, which will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. David S. Kammerer, will commemorate the completion of the remodeling.

Cummings, Duncannon, former pastor of Centenary Methodist church here.

A short business meeting followed the banquet. The president announced that leg-bands found on pheasants released by the association should be turned in to any member of the committee. The committee comprises Charles W. Weikert, Melvin B. Wehler, Walter B. Crouse, William H. Renner and Harry O. Harner. The field man, Bernard Dillman, and the secretary, Richard Knipple, will also receive the leg-bands. A prize will be awarded to the person bringing in one of the numbers on the bands. The pheasant killed the farthest away to date, and reported, was killed near Rocky Ridge, Md.

The main speaker of the evening was Robert Ford, photographer and lecturer from Homestead, Pa. He appeared through the courtesy of the State Game Commission. He showed movies on wildlife, and explained them. Rev. Nevin Smith, Hanover, spoke briefly. Richard Little, Hanover, gave an interesting account of a recent moose hunt in Canada. He bagged a moose.

Turkeys were awarded to Paul Buckley and Earl Inners, Littlestown; H. Redding, Gettysburg; and Mrs. B. I. Myers, Silver Run, Md. The president thanked the committees in charge for arranging the fine banquet and program. They were: Entertainment committee—Karl P. Bankert and Walter B. Crouse; banquet committee—Edgar Wolfe, Charles Lemmon, Stanley Weikert, Stanley Horner, Raymond Spangler, Roscoe Rittase, Milton Harner, Walter Myers, and Raymond Reinman.

The following officers were elected: President, Athom Trandes; vice president, James Reindollar; secretary, Clair Worley; manager, Marvin Breighner; and business manager, Theron Basehoar, Jr. The club passed a resolution of thanks to local business men and the fans for their fine support during the past season. STATE OKAYS TRAFFIC LIGHT IN LITTLESTOWN

The state Department of Highways has approved the erection of traffic signal lights on the square at Littlestown, the borough council was informed at its monthly meeting Tuesday evening. The department has issued a permit for the corner post type, with four posts and eight faces. Council authorized the borough secretary to purchase the traffic signals, and to advertise for bids for installation. In addition to the usual "stop" and "go" signals, it is equipped to flash "amber" on Queen street and "red" on King street. The equipment may thus be used in accordance with the volume of traffic. Many out-of-town drivers have been going through the "stop" signs on King street, and the new traffic lights are intended to remedy this condition.

The street committee reported that work on various alleys and streets of the borough under the county aid project has been completed, and approved by the state Department of Highways. Littlestown received $872.79 from the county. The work just completed included more than was specified on the original project. The total cost was $3,200.

New Street Commissioner

The street committee reported that the street commissioner was unable to perform properly his duties because of his physical condition. Albert D. Crabbs made personal application to perform the duties of street commissioner. He was elected to this position, and will assume his duties December 1. He is to perform the same duties as the former commissioner, including work in connection with pumping water and servicing water mains. His salary was fixed at $1,800 per year. He will be on call seven days a week.

Council took action to purchase a future supply of asphalt for patching the streets. Purchase was authorized at this time because of an expected increase in price after New Year's Day. A telegram was received from Richard Naive, fuel conservator for Pennsylvania, in which Littlestown was requested to cooperate in conserving coal during the present emergency.

To Sell Roller

Council received a bid for the old road roller, which is to be disposed of as junk. Prices will be received until the next meeting, at which time council will dispose of it. Seven dollars in fines were received from the following for illegal parking: Joseph Spalding, Percy Grove, Emory C. Garrick, Robert Allison, Howard Spalding, Jesse Slick, and Donald Reaver. Each paid one dollar. Ten dollars were received from Chester Barrick for a peddler's license.

Building permits were issued as follows: Ernest W. Seitz, 100 West King street, to remove and replace pavement; Luigi Catalano, 22 Cemetery street, repair sidewalk; George L. Hann, R. D. 2, to paint and repair front porch and dwelling and barn for Charles McCaffrey; Paul E. Ginter, 137 East King street, to excavate and construct a one-story frame metal roof garage and storage building; and Charles E. Martin, 223 M street, repair pavement.

Six dollars were received from the Gettysburg Gas Corporation for gas permits for the following: Mrs. Effie Spangler, 343 East King street; Mrs. Paul Ginter, 137 East King street; and Alpha Fire company building, East King street. Expenditures of $4,838.05 were approved.

The next meeting will be held on December 17, a week earlier than usual, because Christmas Eve falls on the regular meeting night. Those present at Tuesday's meeting were: Councilmen Claude A. Snyder, president; Harry L. Trostle, LeRoy M. Wintrose, Edward H. Leister, and J. Edgar Yealy; Burgess Charles R. Mehrling; Borough Secretary Roger J. Keefe; Chief of Police Leon H. Gage; E. Paul Bigelow; and John F. Feeser.

Students Attend Press Conference

Shirley Spangler, Charlotte Hofe, Marion Bankert, Shirley Mackley, Mary Kay Crouse, Louise Dodrer, Ruth Myers, Brenda Walker, Margaret Stonesifer, Doris Renner, Elizabeth Lippy, Anna Mae Bish, June Bowers, Shirley Hawk, Richard Mehrling, Joann Wehler, Marion Stavelly, and Albert Stock, attended the Annual Press conference of York and Adams counties which was held Tuesday at Mount Rose Junior high school, York. The program consisted of a general meeting followed by sectional meetings. Dinner was served in the school cafeteria. Music was furnished for dancing by the Red Lion school orchestra.

Littlestown News Notes

A special service of Thanksgiving was held Thursday evening in St. James' Reformed church. Family worship was held. The offering was consecrated to the work of world service in the war-torn countries of the world.

Mrs. Karl Bankert, sons, Karl and Richard, spent a week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fasold, Selingsgrove. Mrs. Myrtle Kroh, who spent the last few weeks at the Fasold home, returned home with Mrs. Bankert.

Bob Ford, photographer and lecturer of the State Game Commission, gave an educational lecture and showed movies on wild life in the high school Wednesday morning. Pupils of the public and parochial schools attended. His appearance at the high school was sponsored by the Fish and Game association.

Persons having old toys to donate to the American Legion collection are asked to leave them at Zerfing's hardware, Renner Brothers' hardware, or Kerchner's grocery. Legionnaires will repair the toys and distribute them to needy children at Christmas time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Altoff, and daughter, Evelyn, were Thanksgiving dinner guests at the home of the former's son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. John Rudisill, McSherrystown. The Always Faithful Ladies' Bible class of Redeemer's Reformed church will hold their annual Christmas party on Tuesday, December 17, in the social hall of the church. At this time, the Rainy Day Bags will be collected. Each member is asked to bring a small gift not over twenty-five cents in value.

Wilbur A. Bankert, treasurer of the Littlestown State bank, attended a clinic on farm management and bank credit in agriculture at State College last Thursday and Friday. The clinic was conducted by the Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture in connection with the committee on Agricultural Development of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association.

The Ladies' Aid society of Redeemer's Reformed church will hold its annual Christmas party on Tuesday, December 10, at 6:30 p.m. There will be an exchange of gifts; and each person is to bring a dish. The Mason and Dixon post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold a smoker on Thursday, December 12, at 7 p.m. There will be motion pictures and refreshments.

The Alpha Fire company answered.

ed a call Wednesday evening to the Keystone Milling company. Prompt action of the firemen in putting out a fire in the smokestack of a diesel engine averted what might have been a serious fire. Charles Coburn and Beverly Tyler will co-star in "The Green Years" at the Regent theatre, Littlestown, tonight and Saturday. There will be a Saturday matinee, at 2 p.m. "Home on the Range," with Monte Hale and Adrian Booth, will be the attraction Monday and Tuesday evenings. Vera Ralston and William Marshall will be seen in "Murder in the Music Hall" Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

IN THE DARK
Chicago, (AP)—George Klett was left in the dark during a holdup. Klett told police that as he was locking his car, a robber placed a gunny sack over his head, took $250 from his pockets, and ran away without saying a word. The victim wasn't even left holding the sack—the robber took that with him, too.

FLASHES OF LIFE MONEY TO BURN
Livingston, Mont., (AP)—Optometrist R. A. Hamilton said he received a letter from Dude Rancher Bob Hart, asking him to send a check duplicating one he had mailed him earlier. Hart's letter explained that, while on a mountain goat hunting trip, it became necessary to build a fire to keep warm during a cold night, and the only paper he had was in the form of uncashed checks.

THAT'S REASON ENOUGH
Fort Belvoir, Va., (AP)—S/Sgt. Chester Conrad decided to have a spot of tea before retiring so he parked his car in front of the Engineer Training Center club, and went in. One hour and four teas later he returned, but his car wouldn't budge. A quick investigation showed why. Someone had stolen the entire drive shaft.

PENN AND TEXAS AND COLGATE IN VICTORY COLUMN

New York, Nov. 29 (P)—Cornell Colgate and Texas made the departures of their coaches memorable occasions in closing their 1946 football schedules Thanksgiving Day.

While Cornell's Big Red lost to Penn at Philadelphia, 25-20, after scaring the daylight out of the Quakers, the game was one that Ed McKeever, who is leaving Ithaca after two seasons, can point to with pride.

The husky Penn forces were expected to trample McKeever's crew, but Cornell drew first blood, an 83-yard scoring jaunt the first time the Red put the ball in play from scrimmage, and adding two more touchdowns in the final period after the Quakers thought they were out of danger. By posing, Cornell lost the mythical Ivy League title. The championship goes to Yale which has a 4-1-1 record.

Bible Wins Last

The Texas Longhorns presented the venerable Dana X. Bible with a going-away gift in a 24-7 victory over Texas A. & M. Bible, who steps out of the coaching ranks after 34 years, saw his team—rated No. 1 in the nation in mid-October—salvage a third place in the Southwest Conference standing after an in-and-out season.

Andy Kerr's Colgate Red Raiders came through in storybook fashion to make his exit from the grid picture a pleasurable one. The Raiders were trailing Brown 7-0 going into Kerr's last game. Kerr, who stepped out of the coaching ranks after 34 years, saw his team—rated No. 1 in the nation in mid-October—salvage a third place in the Southwest Conference standing after an in-and-out season.

Arkansas, already assured of tying for the lead in the Southwest Conference, was beaten 14-13 by Tulsa, seeking to keep Tulsa in its sixth straight bowl appearance.

The University of Kansas wound up its most successful season in 16 years with a 20-19 triumph over Missouri's Big Tigers. The victory gave the Jayhawkers a tie with Oklahoma for the Big Six crown. Each team has four victories and

NOTRE DAME IS PICKED TO WIN

By JERRY LISK
South Bend, Ind., Nov. 29 (P)—One of Notre Dame's greatest defensive teams is favored to wrap up the first undefeated Irish season since 1941 in the finale of a nine-game campaign against Southern California before a sell out crowd of 46,000 here tomorrow.

The iron-ribbed once-tied Irish have yielded only 18 points this season—and those three touchdowns were counted in desperation thrusters.

In the Southern Conference, William and Mary trounced Richmond 40-0 to gain the runner-up spot to North Carolina's champions and win the Virginia State title. Wake Forest snowed under a crippled South Carolina crew 35-0. Virginia Tech downed its traditional rival, V. M. I., 20-7 and Davidson beat Furman 13-7.

Denver, Big Seven Conference leader, trampled Colorado college 23-6 in a non-league game, while Utah State defeated Utah 22-14 and Colorado U. shut out Colorado A. & M. 18-0. against reserves by Illinois, Purdue and Iowa.

If Southern California can do what Army, Navy, Northwestern and Tulane on the past four Saturdays, and Pittsburgh earlier failed to accomplish—trout Notre Dame pay dirt—or doesn't show in the Trojans' record.

Jeff Gravath's men of Troy, in dropping three of eight starts, twice were blanked by Ohio State, 21-0, and Oregon State, 6-0.

Tradition, however, runs high in this intercollegiate rivalry being renewed for the 16th time since Knute Rockne and Howard Jones brought the two gridiron powers together for the first time in 1926. The Irish hold a 10 to six margin with one deadlock, but three Notre Dame vic-

NEW FIGHTING ENDS TRUCE IN EAST INDIES

Batavia, Java, Nov. 29 (P)—New fighting was reported today to have broken out between Indonesian Republicans and Dutch forces, ending a short-lived truce in the 15-month-long East Indies revolution.

Stories were by a single point and in 1941 the Irish squeezed out a 20-18 decision to preserve their unbeaten campaign.

Only two weeks ago, delegates of the two governments initiated a provisional agreement for an independent Indonesia in a lasting union with the Netherlands.

The Indonesian information ministry said hostilities, begun yesterday, were under way on all fronts and threatened to become large scale. Dutch tanks are moving toward Bekasi, 15 miles southeast of here, the announcement said, and the army of the Indonesian Republic has cancelled all leaves.

The clashes were reported to have been touched off by Indonesian refusal to accept a Dutch army ruling allowing no Republican soldiers within two kilometers (about one and a quarter miles) of allied perimeters.

The reported renewal of hostilities came as The Hague government was preparing to submit the independence agreement for parliamentary approval.

This agreement, announced November 12 and initiated three days later, recognizes the Republic's de facto authority over Java, Sumatra and Madoera and calls for establishment by January 1, 1949, of a United States of Indonesia and a Dutch-Indonesian union for joint handling of foreign relations, defense and, "as far as necessary," finance.

Mount Saint Mary's College Glee Club Being Reorganized; Has 56 Members

T. SCHAEFER IS DIRECTOR FOR CHORAL GROUP

Not long after the present semester began at Mount Saint Mary's college, a Choral Group consisting of 56 members made plans for an ambitious program of musical activities during the coming year.

Joseph Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, South Stratton street, Gettysburg, is a member.

Like many other organizations at the Mount, the Glee club is being reorganized after a lull created by the war. Membership consists of all those who have successfully undergone vocal tests conducted by Director Thomas Schaefer. Second semester students, who last spring devoted themselves exclusively to church music, form a nucleus for the society. Incidentally, those men who are interested in ecclesiastical hymns form a "club within a club" for the purpose of presenting religious selections in the college chapel as the occasion arises.

The aim of the Glee club is to promote interest in group singing, good fellowship, and to present choral music publicly. Fraternality, which is attained by close harmony of all-male voices, is the keynote.

Officers And Directors

The Glee club has Thomas Schaefer for its director. His experience is extensive. After serving as organist for St. Columba's and Our Mother of Sorrows churches in Johnstown, he went to Washington, D. C., where Mr. Schaefer was organist for the Holy Name church. In addition to being Glee club director, Tom is also the college organist. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schaefer, Johnstown.

Richard Sprung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Sprung, Pittsburgh, is the accompanist and assistant director.

Robert McDonald holds the position of librarian. He is the son of Mrs. Anna Bender, Philadelphia, and a former T's in the army ETO.

Dahlen Is President

The following men are officers: President: Kenneth H. Dahlen, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dahlen, Canajoharie, N. Y. Mr. Dahlen is a veteran of the navy. After graduating from the U. S. Naval school of photography at Pensacola, Fla., he served with the Atlantic Fleet Camera party in the Caribbean area as a photographer's mate. Mr. Dahlen, before entering the service was a member of the Mohawk Mills Glee club, Amsterdam, N. Y., the Schubert club, Schenectady, N. Y., and a member of St. Mary's church choir, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Vice President: Ignatius Wadas, second semester freshman, son of Mrs. Margaret Wadas, Nanticoke, Pa., is an army veteran who served as a staff sergeant with the 18th Airborne Corp in ETO. He was a member of St. Francis High school choir, Athol Springs, N. Y.

Secretary: Patrick Gillooly, second semester freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gillooly, Lewisburg, W. Va., is another army veteran. He served as a corporal with the Engineers, and sang with 121st Engineers Glee club in Badman, England.

Four on Board

The Glee club maintains a board of directors who with the officers and Faculty Adviser formulate the club's policy. Father Peter A. Coad is faculty adviser.

The following men are on the board of directors.

Andrew Corcoran, son of Mrs.

PRINCESSES—Bushba (left), 12, and Sirikit, 14, daughters of Prince and Princess Nakhathra of Siam, arrived in London with their mother to rejoin their father, the Siamese minister.

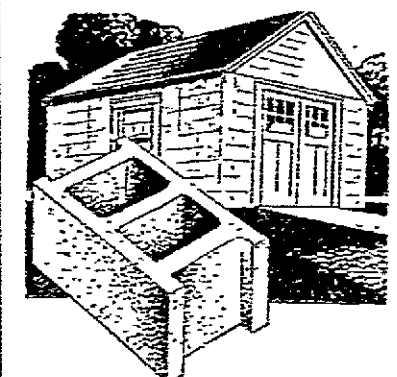

Margaret Corcoran, Weehawken, N. J., is president of the board. He is a graduate of Saint Michaels high school, Mount Union, N. J.

Edward Eglooy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Eglooy, Berwick, Pa., was an Air Corp sergeant in the Pacific Area and a former member of St. Mary's church choir as well as the Berwick high school glee club.

Gerard McCormick, son of Joseph McCormick, Sr., Shamokin, Pa., was in the Army Engineers. This freshman has had considerable experience in the field of entertainment. Besides making recordings for Station WOK in Sunbury, Pa., he has also been active in dramatic and operetta work. Recently, he entertained in Atlantic City.

Fred Simon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Simon, Shamokin, Pa., is a second semester freshman who was a former member of the St. Edward high school band and glee club in Shamokin. Mr. Simon is also head of the publicity committee.

Frederick Chosen For Mount Tilts

Mount St. Mary's college basketball team will play seven home games of their conference schedule on the State Armory court, Frederick, it has been announced.

Crowded facilities existing at the Mountaineers gym due to an unprecedented GI enrollment this year, caused Mount St. Mary's officials to seek larger quarters for resumption of court play.

Teams competing against Mt. St. Mary's and the dates they will play are: December 18, George Washington, January 17, Bridgewater, 22nd, Washington; 29th Loyola, February 11th, St. Francis; 13th, Western Maryland; 20th, Towson Teachers.

National Guard custodians of the army reserve schedules early this month to accommodate the Mountaineer unit. Frederick county basketball league games in conflict with the college play will be rescheduled to give Mount St. Mary's the preference.

HERE COMES ANOTHER NEW RURAL TELEPHONE LINE!

Yes, we're really making headway on our program for extending rural telephone service.

And as rapidly as equipment becomes available, improvements will be made to service in rural areas reached by existing lines. These will include a reduction in the number of parties on party lines, more modern instruments to replace crank-type telephones, and improved ringing systems on which the customer will hear the ring of not more than half the parties on his line.

The sole purpose of this program is to provide better telephone service, at the lowest possible cost, to more rural families in the areas we serve.

Coal in the Basement Food in the Cupboard

That is Thrift

● You get ready for winter by laying in fuel. . . . Before you start a long trip you fill up the gas tank. . . . You don't want your cupboard to look like Mrs. Hubbard's. So you stock up with food.

You may not realize it, but this is thrift. It is common-sense provision for the necessities of life.

Is there any reason why you should not do the same thing with money? A reserve your daily needs and give you something extra for emergencies.

Thrift is still an important factor in every successful life.

HOW MANY MISTAKES

more everything just OK?

PROPOSANTS in Washington are urging Compulsory Health Insurance, to be financed by heavy Federal taxes on payrolls and salaries. Such a program would empower a Federal Bureau, and thousands of bureaucrats throughout the country to regiment our Doctors, Pharmacists, Hospitals, Nurses, Technicians and all health services.

Such a mistake—once enacted into law—would be hard to undo or correct. It would put tremendous power into inexperienced, political hands. No real American would advocate such a mistake, by either tion by dictatorial Federal employees ... BUT, in addition, experience has PROVED that in countries where such mistakes have been made, health standards and quality of medical service are lowered. We have the highest health level on earth—let's KEEP it going forward!

Chapter 5

Madelyn's face was pale and the delight had gone out of her eyes as she watched David's car rolling away, for she was certain that something beautiful was rolling out of her life. And far worse than that, she had lost David as an ally.

Corrine was having a wonderful time getting things together for the Friday night party. She had saved all details for one big spree in the shops.

Corrine had not noticed the driving heat of the afternoon until she got into her blue roadster to go home. The heat of the motor was like a fire under her feet before she was halfway home, and she took off her shoes and prodded the accelerator with the big toe of her right, stocking foot.

She was in no mood for argument, but she knew she would have one if her mother caught her with her shoes in one hand and her hair in the other.

Amita Pratt was a small, plump woman in her early forties. Her eyes were clear and round and blue, deep-set as Corrine's. Her face was as round as a baby's and as smooth, except for her chin which was sharply pointed.

Amita could reprove with a look from her cold blue eyes, but with Corrine, there were always words. "It's common, Corrine, to come tramping in in your stocking feet."

"It's common to traipse anywhere, remember?" Corrine returned. "You do it when you're dead tired and half suffocated."

Amita sighed. "You're your father's daughter. I've just about given up hope." She sighed again, deeper, and her eyes misted over.

"Hope for what?" Corrine asked wearily.

"Of making you a lady."

"Ah, that," Corrine laughed.

"I've dreamed of the time when you'd go abroad with Ross and be introduced to royalty."

Amita's sigh was deeper and yet the mist in her eyes formed into two tears at the outer corners.

Corrine lolled back in the chair and tossed her shoes aside. She closed her eyes for a minute, then suddenly she roused to ask, "Mother, who started this business of me being engaged to Ross? He never has even proposed to me."

"I don't know that anybody started it. Ross has always been your escort, even before you went to college. It has just been taken for granted. He's the only eligible young man in Headleyville fit for you."

"Fit?" Corrine repeated the word to herself. It was a funny word. One meaning of it was what she was about to have. "I don't even like Ross," she said finally. "He's soft and pompous. He puckers up with importance."

Her mother's chin jutted and the point of it was as sharp as her voice. "What have you been up to, Corrine? Have you fallen in love with somebody else?"

"Yes, I have," she answered nonchalantly.

There was a brief silence during which Amita Pratt sniffed a couple of times and wiped her eyes, but Corrine was not looking. "You'd better go take a cold shower, dear. The heat is oppressive."

"Yep, I s'pect I'd better," Corrine sprang from the chair and picked up her shoes.

It was a relief to reach her own room. She undressed and took a cooling shower, lay down on the luxurious bed with only a sheer nightgown between her body and the cool breeze puffing in through the windows which were as wide as doors and reached almost to the high ceiling.

Twilight was softening the flower garden with its mellow gold and dust-rose lights when Corrine awoke from a short, dreamless nap.

She dressed hurriedly in a white silk suit consisting of skirt, blouse with a bright red collar, and a short white jacket. She stepped back from the big round mirror to get the full effect, then dashed downstairs.

Her mother was nowhere in sight, but she found Ross and her father

on the stone porch which led out by the way of polished stone steps, to the terrace and the pool.

Ross came to his feet the moment she spoke. "Hello, Corrine. Please don't let me interrupt."

Corrine begged. She sat on the arm of her father's chair, one arm encircling his neck.

Mr. Pratt always spoke openly before Corrine in spite of his wife's protests, so he said, "Ross and I were discussing his conference with Crockett. Crockett refuses to sell the land. We've offered five times what it's worth."

"Maybe that's not enough for what it's worth to him," Corrine suggested.

"It's worth nothing to him! He can't even pay his taxes."

Corrine snuggled against him and said, "You know, I believe David Graham could influence him. Why don't you talk with him and see if he can't persuade Old Man Crockett to sell?"

"E-m-m, that young shirttail? He father grumbled."

"That might be a good idea," Ross put in.

"I don't do business that way," Mr. Pratt snapped.

"It's just a suggestion," Corrine said sweetly and snuggled closer to him.

She was startled when her father said suddenly, "I think a tactful thing would be to invite young Graham to the party Friday night."

"Why, yes," she faltered. Then she told them of the invitation Nella had sent him, and could not restrain a chuckle at her father's, "Well, I'll be a confounded frog in a fish-pond!"

"He flatly refused to come," she went on. "He might reconsider if you sent an invitation and signed your name to it." She considered for a moment, then added, "But I doubt if any urging would get him here."

Mr. Pratt snorted and said, "I wouldn't think of doing such a thing."

"You'd better," Ross interposed.

HELD IN SLAYING OF ACCUSED BOY

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 (AP)—Thomas Marino, 40-year-old unemployed shipworker accused of luring a 17-year-old youth to his house and then killing him in the belief the youth had been intimate with Marino's 14-year-old daughter, today was held without bail on a homicide charge.

"He's our only means of reaching Crockett. Madelyn hasn't any influence with him."

Corrine hurried into the library and came back with an invitation. "You're going to regret this," his wife said as he scribbled his name across one corner of the square.

Marino told Magistrate Jacob Dogole at a hearing yesterday:

"I didn't know what I was doing. I wanted to scare (James) Landi with the pistol. I didn't know it was loaded."

Anthony Polillo, 16, a companion of Landi, testified Marino backed them against the wall of Marino's home shouting to Landi:

"What did you do to my baby?"

Polillo said Marino struck Landi on the head with the butt of a revolver and fired one shot. Landi staggered to the street and fell dead with a bullet through his heart.

Detective Sgt. William Simon told Magistrate Dogole that Marino had been looking for Landi since he had been told Landi had been intimate with Marino's daughter last summer.

Simon said Marino asked Landi to his house to "see some Christmas toys and trains." Landi was

Large Congregation At Union Service

A large congregation participated in the union service of Thanksgiving Wednesday evening in Redeemer's Reformed church. Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, preached on the topic "God's Open Hand," basing his meditation on the 145th Psalm. Rev. Charles B. Rebert, retired Reformed minister, led in the invocation and pronounced the benediction. Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed church, read the scripture and Rev. Robert H. Sheehan, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, offered the prayers of thanksgiving.

Robert Lagore, Spring Grove, sang a solo. The Junior and Senior choirs of Redeemer's church united to sing the Thanksgiving anthem. Miss Doris Lagore took the solo parts.

The name of the speaker for the annual preaching mission to be held January 12-17 was made public. He is the Rev. Dr. Allan S. Meek, pastor of Trinity church, York, and president-elect of the theological seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed church in Lancaster. Return From Trip To Western Coast

Mrs. Elsie Waltman, 50 Maple avenue, Littlestown, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krug, Hanover, R. 2, arrived home on Sunday from a trip to the Pacific coast and points of interest en route. They left by train on November 1, and took the southern route, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Noah Spahr, of Mt. Vernon, Washington (state), who had been visiting here since September 19. Mrs. Spahr, Mrs. Krug, and Mrs. Waltman are sisters. They stopped at Oklahoma City, Okla., and spent a day with William Herman, 23-year-old uncle of the three ladies. After going through Texas and California, they went up the coast to Washington. Here they visited Mr. and Mrs. Spahr's children and families. Mr. and Mrs. Krug, and Mrs. Waltman, returned by the northern route. They reported temperatures of 38 degrees below zero in Montana. They encountered snow from Washington to Illinois.

CLAIM U.S. ABLE TO BREAK TITO GOVERNMENT

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The general interpretation of the latest U. S. note to Poland, that Warsaw can expect no further credits if it persists in what Washington considers "disturbing" election preparations, has heightened speculation in United Nations circles as to whether the U. S. intends to make a stab at pulling Yugoslavia and Poland out of the Russian sphere.

Such speculation has been current since the United States came out against continuation of international relief distribution and, instead, that she intended to base allotment of her supplies, at least in part, on the reciprocal attitudes of needy nations.

Under UNRRA, relief distribution has been handled without regard for politics. The State Department hasn't, of course, decided to stand idly by in violation of American tradition while there is mass starvation anywhere. But short of that, the idea from now on is to help our friends first and not to help peoples in countries whose governments work against us.

How Help Works
The realities are that by helping to feed a people and finance their government you strengthen that government in whatever it wants to do, and, conversely, if you wish to change a government, hungry people and straitened finances can be a major weapon. Under an international policy of relief distribution strictly on the basis of need, the U. S. conceivably could find itself feeding a people whose government, thus relieved of one part of its burden, actually would use the surplus to prepare for war against us.

The United States announcements, plus these realities, have led to gossip at Lake Success that, whether she has definite designs or not, America is in a position to break the Tito government and force a change in Poland.

Actually, however, this would depend on what these countries could obtain elsewhere. And it is not to be forgotten that Russia, not contributing supplies to UNRRA and, instead, being helped in the Ukraine and White Russia, sent shipments of grain to France just at a time when it would do the French Communists most good in an election. Any application of sanctions against Warsaw and Belgrade undoubtedly would arouse Russia to extreme efforts to offset the damage, a job for which she has had more than a year to prepare while we have been carrying the major burden of European rehabilitation.

Such sanctions also must involve a determination to follow through for some time to come.

TRUMAN URGED TO CENTER FIRE ON BIG ISSUES

By JACK BELL
Washington, Nov. 29 (P)—President Truman reportedly is being urged by some Capitol Hill friends to center his fire on a few major issues in recommendations to the new Republican-controlled Congress.

Several influential Democrats said privately they hope Mr. Truman would make middle-of-the-road proposals for legislation on labor, housing, taxes and expenditures, the military draft and post-war Army-Navy matters.

They would prefer that he attempt to cover the broad field of legislation to be made in the last Congress.

With the Republicans now in control of the legislative machinery, they are urged to make a list of the issues most of the Democrats think would be best left to the President to handle.

Labor Control Top Issue

One of the most likely to be heard from the President is the issue of labor control. It is expected that the President will be urged to make a list of the issues most of the Democrats think would be best left to the President to handle.

Several Democrats said privately they hope Mr. Truman would make middle-of-the-road proposals for legislation on labor, housing, taxes and expenditures, the military draft and post-war Army-Navy matters.

MARTIN'S EXPENSES

Harrisburg, Nov. 29 (P)—Gov. Edward Martin reported expenses of $100,000 to the state Election Board in his successful campaign for election to the U. S. Senate. The governor's account showed he received $2,500 from the Republican National Senatorial committee, which he turned over to the Republican state committee, and that he made an additional contribution of $1,500 to the latter committee.
